

Reserve Sonoma Valley Participation Form October 19 & 20, 2013

Steps for Participation:

1. Review Tour Names & Descriptions - please note that the title of the tour is a way to focus the tour and highlight specific subjects, it should not limit your visit with RSV guests. For example: a varietal specific tour does not mean that you must only pour the respective varietal. See example below.
2. Select the TOP FOUR tours you would like to host for both Saturday and Sunday. (Same Scheduled implemented both days)
*Vineyard Designate Tour allows for wineries to promote their winegrowing partners!
3. Provide a detailed tour description - descriptions will be featured in all marketing materials and website to help sell and promote the specific tour.

Can your property/winery location accomodate a 16-passenger bus? (yes or no)

Are you able to host the picnic lunch for guests? If so, please describe the location:

please note, lunch is provided to guests with purchase of event ticket, you are simply providing a seating area.*

Tour Descriptions- please give all details regarding your tour, extra offerings, outside chef, details that would make your tour significant! Below is a very good example of a tour description:

Experience a once in a life time food and wine pairing at Annadel Estate Winery with Chef Adam Busby the previous Director of Culinary for the Culinary Inst. of America in Napa. A certified Master Chef, one of about 65 in the country, and he is now the Culinary Director for Avenir Culinary Systems, a new company focusing on industrial precision temperature cooking for institutions like hospitals, schools etc. Busby will be preparing three tastings to be paired with wines from Annadel Estate Winery. Grilled shrimp with tomato and fennel jam, to be paired with Annadel Chardonnay, grilled Radicchio and Bocconcini with a Dry Cherry Vinaigrette, to be paired with Anni's Blend, and the final course is grilled lamb chops with a fig, date and currant chutney, to be paired with our Monte Rosso Zinfandel. Leaving with a greater appreciation for Sonoma Valley wine and food. Winemaker and Principal will welcome guests and share these wine and food pairings!
